Financial economics is the branch of economics characterized by a "concentration on monetary activities", in which "money of one type or another is likely to appear on both sides of a trade". Its concern is thus the interrelation of financial variables, such as prices, interest rates and shares, as opposed to those concerning the real economy. It has two main areas of focus: asset pricing and ...

Research featured in the latest edition of the NBER Digest finds that the frequency of price changes at multi-channel retailers – those who sell online and in brick-and-mortar stores – increased from 15 percent per month in 2008–10 to almost 30 percent in 2014–17. Frequency of changes was greatest in areas where competition with online retailers such as Amazon was stiffest.
