An artificial neural network is a network of simple elements called artificial neurons, which receive input, change their internal state (activation) according to that input, and produce output depending on the input and activation.. An artificial neuron mimics the working of a biophysical neuron with inputs and outputs, but is not a biological neuron model.

Since the gradient needs to be backpropagated from the output through time, RNNs are inherently deep (in time) and consequently suffer from the same problems with training as regular deep neural networks (Bengio et al., 1994).To this end, several specialized memory units have been developed, the earliest and most popular being the Long Short Term Memory (LSTM) cell (Hochreiter and Schmidhuber ...
