Problems and Problem Solving. What is a problem? In common language, a problem is an unpleasant situation, a difficulty. But in education the first definition in Webster's Dictionary – "a question raised for inquiry, consideration, or solution" – is a common meaning. More generally in education, it can be useful to define problem broadly – as any situation, in any area of life, where ...

The Monty Hall problem is a brain teaser, in the form of a probability puzzle, loosely based on the American television game show Let's Make a Deal and named after its original host, Monty Hall. The problem was originally posed (and solved) in a letter by Steve Selvin to the American Statistician in 1975 (Selvin 1975a), (Selvin 1975b). It became famous as a question from a reader's letter quoted ...

2 will be a family of possible conditional distributions corresponding to the different possible values of μ . However, it may happen that for each possible value of t , the conditional joint distribution of X_1, \dots, X_n given that $T = t$ is the same for all the values of μ and therefore does not actually depend on the value of μ . In this case, we say that T is a
